

Alleyda Barraza, B.S., SLPA

Speech Language Pathology Assistant

Alleyda is a studying speech-language pathologist assistant (SLPA) with a B.S. in speech and language hearing sciences, minor in education, and data science. Alleyda has special interests in adult neurogenic disorders, preschool children, and children on the autism spectrum. Her experiences range from working in play clinics, early head starts and the rehabilitative settings. Alleyda works in collaboration with a supervising SLP and infant development specialists on treating speech and language disorders in young children. Additionally, in her undergraduate studies she conducted research on bilingual adults with aphasia and worked to streamline virtual therapy services during covid for adults with aphasia, and children on the autism spectrum.

mygestones

