

Jazmin Quintero, M.S., SLP

Speech Language Pathologist

Jazmin is a licensed Speech Language Pathologist, who has her Masters in Speech and Language Pathology from the University of Pacific and her Bachelors in Communication Sciences and Disorders from Sacramento State University. She has been working in the speech therapy field since 2016 when she received an Associates degree as a Speech Language Pathology Assistant and an Associates degree in Early Childhood Education from San Joaquin Delta College.

Jazmin has experience working with individuals in the public and non-public schools. She is skilled in speech and language evaluation, screenings, and treatment of children of all ages. Jazmin specializes in treating children with special needs such as; Autism, deaf and hard-of-hearing, and non-verbal children utilizing AAC devices. She is a strong believer that every child deserves a voice. This belief has led her to become passionate about teaching children different modalities to communicate and helping them choose their preferred mode of communication. She works closely with children and their families to facilitate effective communication skill development and implementation. Jazmin is a beneficial member to the Mylestones team as she helps to provide a new perspective on communication to children, parents, and the early intervention team.
